

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

It's time to make a decision!

Learning Outcome

Describe routines and regular activities in a wider range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- When was the last time you had to make a decision?
- Was it easy or difficult to make? Why?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about behavior and personality appropriate for jobs and work.
- I can start a conversation with someone I know.
- I can talk about making decisions.

Let's Explore!

Janet has to make a decision about who to hire. Who does she choose?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

HR: Hi, Janet. It's great to see you.

Janet: Hiya, you too. It's been ages. You look well.

HR: Thanks, you too. So, have you made up your mind about who's the best candidate?

Janet: Well, I haven't decided yet. I'm considering my options.

HR: Right. You need to give it a lot of thought. But what do you like about them? What do they bring to the table?

Janet: On the one hand, Eduardo is incredibly skilled and highly innovative. On the other hand, Peter is extremely perceptive and really communicative. Peter has worked as an intern for a software company. He's done a lot of work online, especially with planning events.

HR: What about the other applicant?

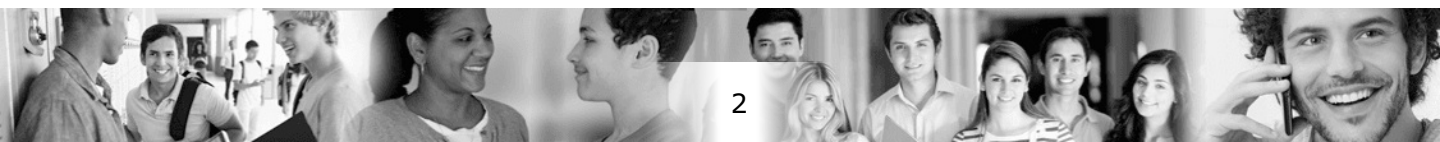

Janet: Eduardo? He did his internship with a finance company.

HR: Sounds like you've got a tough decision to make.

HR: Janet. It's me. I need to know if you've arrived at a decision.

Janet: Yes! After giving it a lot of thought, I decided to go with Peter.

HR: Great!

Let's Practice!

Janet talks to the HR* officer. What does she say?

*"HR" is short for Human Resources.

An "HR officer" is an individual who deals with employing and training people for a company.

Instructions: Read the dialogue. Circle the expressions that are used to start the conversation.

1. HR: Hi, Janet. It's great to see you. Have you reviewed the files I sent you?
Janet: Hiya. It's been ages. You look well. I haven't had a chance to.
HR: Thanks, you too. Not a problem, I'll give you a call later to discuss it.
Janet: Sounds like a plan.
2. HR: Janet. It's me.
Janet: Yes, Hello. I looked at the files.
HR: Great! What do you think?

Let's Practice!

Has Janet made a decision?

Instructions: Organize the mystery sentences. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. Have / candidate / who's / your / ? / up / the / about / best / you / mind / made

2. options / I / haven't / yet / . / my / decided / I'm / considering / .

3. it / a / . / need / You / lot / thought / to / of / give

4. got / like / a / . / decision / Sounds / you've / make / tough / to

5. arrived / at / a / ? / you / Have / decisión

Extension Activity

Let's make a decision! Role-play a situation with your partner.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Read the situation.
- Choose the role you want.
- Practice talking about the situation in the role play.
- Continue speaking for as long as you can.
- Then, switch roles with your partner.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I write a dialogue making a decision on a new job.

☐ ☐

I describe a job.

☐ ☐

I read the dialogue aloud.

☐ ☐

Situation:

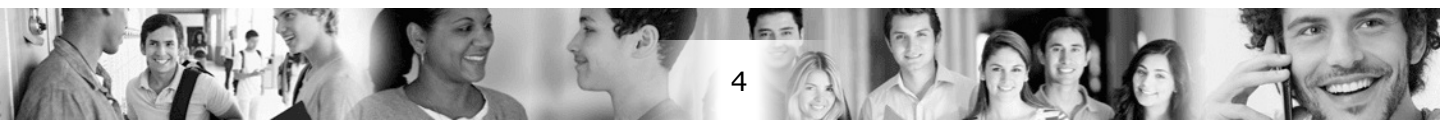

Role 1: You are a manager. Make the decision about who to hire. Talk to the HR officer to help you make your decision. Make a decision about how to hire.

Role 2: You are a HR officer. Help the manager make the decision about who to hire. Change roles.

Target Words

- to make up your mind (expression): to choose what to do e.g. Have you made up your mind about what to do?
- to give it thought (expression): to carefully think about something; to consider e.g. I have given it a lot of thought.
- software (noun): the sets of programs that tell a computer how to do a particular job e.g. I worked for a software company.
- online (adjective): available through the Internet
e.g. He has done some work online as well.
- finance (noun): the management of money by large organizations
e.g. He did his internship with a finance company.
- bring to the table (expression): provide something that will be a benefit e.g. What does each candidate bring to the table?
- skilled (adjective): someone who has the training and experience that is needed to do something well e.g. He is incredibly skilled.
- innovative (adjective): using clever new ideas and methods e.g. We were surprised by how innovative he was.
- perceptive (adjective): someone who notices things quickly and understands situations
e.g. I thought he was much more perceptive than the other candidates.
- communicative (adjective): able to talk easily to other people e.g. She is quite communicative.

Learning Points

Language for Making Decisions

Decision-making is an important skill, both in the workplace and in our everyday lives. Here's some language you can use to talk about decisions.

(verb) decide (not) to: I have decided to leave the company.

(noun) decision: Leaving the company was a difficult decision.

You take, arrive at, come to or make a decision:

- As CEO of the company, she needs to make tough decisions.
- Have you arrived at a decision?
- Let me know when you have taken your decision.
- I will let you know once we come to a decision.

You can also use adjectives to describe your decision.

take make arrive at	a tough a difficult an important	decision
---------------------------	---	----------

- It sounds like a difficult decision to make. She made the right decision.

If you can't make a decision, you say you can't make up your mind.

- I can't make up my mind about who's the right person for this job.

If you are thinking about your choices, you say you are considering your options.

- I'm not sure, but I'm considering my options.

If you need to think about making a decision, you give it a lot of thought.

- It's a difficult decision and I need to give it a lot of thought.

When you are thinking about your decision and want to give two different opinions about someone or something, you use on the one hand ... on the other hand.

- On the one hand, he is really communicative. On the other hand, she is extremely perceptive.

Learning Points

Starting a Conversation With Someone You Know

In English, there are certain expressions and words you use to greet and start a conversation with someone you know. Look at the charts below.

Saying Hello		Follow-up
• Hi! • Hello! • Hey! • Hiya!		• it's great/ nice/ good to see you • It's been ages/a while • You look well!/ good!
Responses	Questions	Responses
• And you! • You too!	• How are you doing? • How are things?	• Good, thanks. • Very well, thanks. • Not too bad, thanks.

Examples:

- Hi, Sara. It's great to see you.
- Hiya. You too. It's been ages.
- How are things? Very well, thanks.

